thoroughfare, however, has a somewhat different ap-pearance about three o'clock in the morning from that which it presents at the same time in the afternoon. That wast concourse, which is made up of representatives from every grade of society, from the beggar to the millionaire, has disappeared; the flood of light which was poured out on the pavement from the windows, resplendent with all the wealth of art and manufacture, has gone out, and the great thoroughfare is now dimly visible by the long lines of lamps which extend its entire length. There are a few stragglers out, and—we record it with a feeling of plea-sure and satisfaction—we really saw one policeman, so that long and dreary hours of the night are laeition would soon be dissipated by you gaily bevy who are making their way towards that wagon makes over the rough pavement, we can hear the counds which some poet tells us can southe the savage creast and do many other things equally wonderful we have, however, no time to attend to such things.

but we must on with the wagon, and stay or rest not until the railroad depot is reached. Away we go pell mell, waking the echoes of Broadway; starting the soli-tary but faithful policeman out of all propriety, with the clatter we make as we sweep over the pavement, and setting all the dogs within half a dozen blocks of us barking and howling. At last we are out of Broadway, and have now turned into Union square, which already shows signs of fading aristocracy. Passing to the left of the square, we are soon abreast of that remarkable edifice, the plan of which was copied from an unlinkbed fice, the plan of which was copied from an unlinkbed structure in Europe, as the most original that could be found. It is known as the one horned church, and deserves to be ranked in the same category with that of other astonishing specimens of ecclesiastical architecture which adorn the Fourth avenue. But we time to bestow upon those matters just now. rty first street must be reached in good time, and our ders in Albany, Troy, &c., must have the Herald with heir breakfast. Away we go with unabated speed till re reach Thirtieth street, which we pass down, and in a few minutes more are at our place of destination. On our arrival we find the locomotive with steam up, and ready to start. Attached to it is the indispensable tender, a baggage oar and a passenger car, through the windows baggage car and a passenger car, inrough the windows of which we can see several occupants. Driving up to the baggage car the papers are at once thrown into it, and taken in charge by some half dozen persons employed for the purpose. These are the counters, the folders and packers, for the baggage car is literally some certed into a travelling newspaper depot for the time and everything else that is necessary for the roper transaction of their business. While the train is weeping along at the rate of forty miles an hour, these out the packages, all neatly done up, with the names of at the stations to receive them. As we have said, our load is discharged, our part of the work is performed, and the shrill notes of the iron horse give the signal of departure. The train is in motion, the travelling newspaper depot is all alive making ready the paper for delivery along the route, and with the consciousness of having faithfully discharged our duty to the Albanians, to the Trojans, to the Tubby Hookers, to the ians-in a word, to all the dwellers on the banks of the Hudson—to those who live in the fertile valley of the Mohawk, and—to make short work of it—to society in general, which is in a certain sense represented by all these—having, as has been said, faithfully discharged our duty, we return to our homes to seek a repose which has

years old, residing at No. 162 West Twentieth street, ap-peared before Justice Kelly, at the Jefferson Market Police Court, and preferred a charge of seduction against Thomas Court, and preferred a charge of seduction against Thomas Casey. The complainant stated that for a long time Thomas had been a constant visiter at her mother's house, and that on the 28th of August last he proposed for her hand in marriage. Complainant accepted the offer, and it was arranged that the ceremony should take place on or about the 1st of November. Between the date of the proposal and the day set down for the marriage, the gallam from the paths of virtue. When the time set apart for the nuptials had arrivrd, Casey made some excuse about his inability to support a wife, and to the intense horror of Catharine and her mother, he most positively refused to be wedded. Several times materiately in the shape of $100 would not win him over to the little ceremony. Finding her lover immovable in his determination, Catharine sought the aid of the magistrate, and prayed that Casey might be arrested and dealt with a die law directs. The defendant was taken into custody by officer Dugan and held to await the result of an examination, which is to come off on Thursday afternoon.

John Simpson was brought before Justice Connolly, at the lower solice court, on a similar charge. John it is

The prisoner, judging from his conduct while in court, is very much averse to marrying the complainant. A few weeks' confinement, however, and the probabilities of his being sent to Sing Sing, may atter his determination.

FIGHT AND STABBUNG APPRAY.—John Rooney and Patrick Collins met at the saloon No. 237 Etizabeth street on Monday night, for the purpose of settling a little difficulty. Rooney, who is a great lover of the "manly art," stripped himself for the fight, but Collins, who is anything but a scientific sparrer, depended entirely upon the blade of a pen-knife for protection, and when his adversary raised his arm to strike him he plunged the blade into his face three or four times in rapid succession. Rooney was rendered hors de combat by such unexpected tactics on the part of the enemy and gave up the battle without striking a single blow. Collins was subsequently arrested on charge of felonious assault and locked up in the Fourteenth precinct station house for the remainder of the night. Yesterday the prisoner was taken before Justice Steers, at the Essex Market Police Court and committed for examination.

gold watch, and then slipped noiselessly away from the place. Yesterday the owner of the watch met Casey, and taxed him with the theft, when the latter admitted his guilt, but said he only took the time plece for a joke, and offered Masterson the money he had obtained in pawning it, as well as the ticket necessary for its redemption. Masterson was quite willing to accept the money and the ticket, but disapproved of the joke, and had his friend Casey arrested accordingly. Justice Steers committed the accused for examination on charge of grand larceny.

The steamboat police were informed of the affair on Saturday, and ever since officers Burdick and King have been on the look out for the rogue. Yesterday the officers succeeded in discovering the whereabouts of the greater part of the stolen leather, but no trace of the shief has yet been found. The leather was found secreted in the store of Wm. Marks, a Gorman, at No. 67 Madison street to whom it had been sold by the scamp who forged the order. Marks was arrested on suspicion of receiving stolen property, and held to await an examination.

INCOMPLANT FIRE.—At nine o'clock last night a fire was discovered in a building used as a cooper's shop in South Third street, between First and Second streets. An alarm was immediately given, but before the arrival of the firemen the building was enveloped in fiames, and soon totally destroyed. The building was owned by Mr. Van Avery, and was worth probably, with its contents, about $200, on which there was no insurance. The fire was, it is thought, the work of an incendiary.

THE BODY OF A WOMAN FOUND IN A WHILL—A STRANGE CASE.—Yesterday afternoon information was given at the Sixth police precinct that the body of a weman had been discovered in a public well on the owner of Bushwick avenue and Moore street. Sergeam Griffith went at once to the spot indicated and found the body, which, upon being taken out, was recognized as a woman known as Granny Carroll, who has resided for the last twenty years on the corner of Bushwick avenue and Cook street. The body was taken to the woman's late residence and Coroner Murphy notified. He will hold an inquest this morning.

CHARTER ELECTIONS.—The charter elections in Jersey City, Hoboken and Hudson City for the election of city sed off in a quiet and orderly manner. In Jersy (thy it was generally conceded on all sides that Cornelius Van Vorst, republican, was elected Mayor. In Hoboken Mr. Carpenter, the present incumbent, was probably re-elected Mayor. The vote in both cities was much higher than usual. The result as to the election of the other officers will not be definitely ascertained until the completion of the canvass some time this (Wednesday) afternoop.

The Polar Exploring Expedition. American Geographical and Statistical Society was held at the Cooper Intitute last evening, to hear a full exposition of the theory of Inanc J. Hayes, M. D., concerning the The large basement hall was very nearly filled at the hour fixed for the delivery of the addresses, and addi-

The Rev. Dr. Hawkes having taken the chair, the regular business of the society was brought forward proforms, but on metion of Mr. Cyrus W. Field, the ordinary business was postponed to give an opportunity for a full expression of the views of Dr. Hayes.

The Rev. Dr. Hawkes, the Chairman of the Society, explained the objects of the meeting, which are to encourage the idea of a new expedition to the North Pole to establish the fact beyond all doubt of the existence of an open Polar Sea, as set forth by Dr. Kane. He expressed the pleasure and satisfaction which he felt at seeing so large an audience of citizens present on an occasion when a purely scientific subject was to be discussed; for he looked on this as evidence that the people of New York feel a deep interest in the great question which they had mot to hear discussed. Dr. Hawkes concluded a brief but interesting address by stating that, as Amoricaus, they were all deeply interested in this movement. Holding as they do a place among civilized nations, they cannot stand by dily while the other peoples of the world decide every question of boundaries or unknown seas and territory, more especially when these discoveries belong to our own hemisphere. He then introduced Dr. I. J. Hayes to the sudience.

Dr. Hayes, on coming forward, was received with con-own nemispace. He take introduced Dr. I. J. Hayes to the autience.

Dr. HAYES, on coming forward, was received with considerable enthusiasm. He said that his principal object in appearing before the public was to embrace an opportunity of more fully explaining his views as to the practicability and feasibility of navigating the open Polar Sea, so frequently alluded to. He then entered into a regular practical explanation of his views, which he eludidated by frequent reference to an excellent map of the northern regions, which had been provided for that purpose by the Sea, and the provided for that purpose by the Sea, and the provided to the provided of the provi in the noble work. After a lengthy and eloquent speech on the advantages to arise from this discovery, he alluded to the objection which might be made to Dr. Hayes on account of his apparently delicate organization, and if the old Roman were there he might be tempted to say, "This Isaac is a lean and hungry man. He thinks too much." (Laughler.) But these were the very men of nerve and spirit to carry out great undertakings. He concluded by invoking God's blessing on Hayes and his companions.

Dr. Hawas very humorously observed, that the Society made no distinctions between lean and fat men, but that they were willing to hear from all their learned friends; and as a proof of this he begged to introduce Dr. Bethune. (Loud laughter and applause.)

The Rov. Dr. Bethunk then came forward amid renewed laughter and applause. He said that the first thing he had to do was to thank the audience for their kind reception, and then before saying anything further to express his thankfulness that he was not a lean man. (Laughter and applause.) One of the gentlemen who had spoken—a very lean man—had coupled leanness and hungriness together—(laughter)—but surely this ought to have been generally known long ago, for every body must remember the eld dream in the Scripture, where the lean kine eat up the fat ones. (Loud laughter.) The reverend doctor then went on very elequently and expressly to urge the claims of the society. He wished to see the movement taken up by the people of New York in a warm and unanimous spirit. He wished them to send out the warm and disinterested friend of Kane, to vindicate his name and every success.

Mr. J. A. Feturus, from the auditorium, addressed the Chair. He said he did not desire to make a speech, as some editorial quid nunc who writes for the New York fines had accused him of spread-eagleism when he formerly spoke. He, however, would make the practical motion that a sub-cription be raised, which he would head with five dollars.

The motion was carried, and subscription lists handed round, whe

The Straight.—The shoemakers' strike is nearly done. In Delivers, Grovelane and Waitham, it has been entirely abandoned. Of the one thousand workers in Marble-head three quarters are at work at prices somewhat higher than before the strike. In Lynn a considerable part of the strikers have resumed operations. Those who hald out had a meeting on Thursday evening, which was addressed by Mr. Dillon, President of the Association, and by Mr. Draper who has returned from the South. The association resolved not to yield. The shoemakers of Danvers have voted to discontinue the strike. The Groveland strikers have followed the example of their Haverbill brethren.

peddling of hard coal through the streets, on the ground that it interfered with and injured those persons engaged in the legitimate business.

The meeting was organized about half as hour after the regular time. The following gentlemen being elected as the preciding officers:—Mr. Wm. Dogherty, President, and Mr. Charles Laeders, Secretary. The Prasment rose and said that he was sorry to see that so few of the dealers had responded to the call, but hoped that at their next meeting be would see the trade fully represented. He then called upon Mr. Henry A. Weeks to explain the origin of the movement. This gentleman came forward and stated that he had discovered that there were no licenson granted for the peddling of hard coal, and that he had caused the arrest of several of those peddlers. They (the venders) them called a meeting, and sent a committee to Mayor Wood, who desired to hear both sides of the question; and in case he could not make a satisfactory arrangement, he would put it into the proper hands to look after it. Mr. Weeks desired to have the coal dealers properly represented, and for this reason called the meeting. As far as he was concerned, he would stop the peddling of hard coal, or else have the License law altered. The pedders said that we were trying to create a monepoly when all might enter into a legitimate trade. But he wanted to sit persons who want about the city, paying no reagiving people short measure, and even then an interior article, and often spreading bad money over the city. He next condemned general peddling, saying that the articles of food, such as vegetables, fish, meat, &c., sold by those persons, were dangerous to the public health, as it nearly all cases the things purchased by them were of a stale and bad character. He concluded his remarks by calling upon all present to rouse the attention of their friences to this subject.

Isaac Whillams, of the Ninth ward, stated that the pediers were injuring his business by coming outsid his store door and trying to undersell him, an

In subject.

Mr. Winnes thought that the thing could be carried through if every one who was interested would take an active part in it. That as long as human intelligence ruled over human ignorance, the wrongs of the people must and will eventually be righted.

The question of funds arose, and, on the suggestion of the President, each member present promised to bear their portion of the expense of meeting rooms for meeting, for advertising and for whatever else might be wanted in the furtherance of the cause.

One of the members proposed calling meetings in different parts of the city, so as to accommodate all, and hoped that he would see meetings called in every ward in the city to aboush the nuisance of peding. That even if the peddlers did sell at lower prices than the stores, that the short measure and inferior articles they gave more than made up for the difference in the price.

The meeting was but poorly attended, and after some few remarks being made by persons present, the meeting adjourned until the evening of the 17th.

All the Fire Wardens can do after they have examined buildings reported to be unsafe is to notify the owner of such buildings, but they have not any power to compel the owner to put such buildings in a proper state of repair. They report 456 unsafe buildings in this city.

The representatives then proceeded to ballot for the election of Fire Wardens—Jour to serve for three years, and one for one year, this vacancy being caused by the death of Mr. San derson last October.

While the votes were being deposited, Mr. Woodbuttl. read a communication from the Board of Fire Commissioners, calling the attention of the Board of Representatives of the Fire Department to the action of the Aldermen and Common Council in the case of John Kerrigan, and to the imputations thrown upon the Board of Fire Commissioners by certain members of the Board of Aldermen.

Mr. Phillips, of engine company No. 40, moved the following resolution:—

Mr. Phillips, of engine company No. 40, moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That such action, on the part of the Common Council, was detrimental to the best interests of the Fire Department, that the present Board of Fire Commissioners are entitled to, and have the entire confidence of this Board, and the time has now arrived when the relations between the board of Fire Commissioners and the Common Council, so far as government is concerned, should be dissolved.

After a lively discussion, Mr. SMITH, of Engine Company No. 51, moved that the communication and resolution be referred to a committee of five and the officers.

Motion was carried unanimously.

The ballotting resulted in the election of the following gentlemen:—Mr. William Miller, of Hose Company No. 31, Mr. William Brandon, of Hook and Ladder No. 1; and Mr. John Downey, of Engine Company No. 34, were elected as Fire Wardens.

It was then moved and seconded that Mrs. Sanderson for the next twelve months; the other wardens having offered to discharge the duties of his office for that district during that time.

The meeting did not adjourn until after half-past eleven.

CONDUCTORS' BALL.—The second annual ball of the conductors of the Third Avenue Railroad was given at the Sixty-fifth street depot Assembly Rooms on Monday night, and proved one of the grandest affairs of the kind which nas taken piace in this city for some time. The ladies and gentlemen present numbered about nine hundred, yet all were comfortably accommodated in the spacious rooms of the depot, which were decorated for the occasion in truly magnificent style. The company was honored by the presence of some of the city officials, and all the officers of the company ambraced the opportunity for inaugurating a rather 'good time' among themselves if the private apartments of the building. The festivities of the night having passed "as merry as a marriage beil," closed about cay break.

The circumstances which gave rise to these suspicions was the discovery of some women's wearing apparel, consisting of three skirts, and papers, comprising an account book, in which was a letter, a promissory note, receipts, &c., and a memorandum book. These were lying about loose on a ratt os the flats of Gowanus creek one morning about two weeks since, and led to the belief that they were placed there by some person who subsequently jumped overboard or was killed. The papers show that they were cnoe the property of one Jackson Hart. One is an order dated Sacramento, Cal., August 16, 1859, to R. F. Hastings & Co., bankers, directing the payment of $600 to the order of J. Hart. Another, dated Savannah, Mo., May 18, 1856, being a promissory note to the order of William Barnes and William H. Degarnett for $12, signed R. H. Stuart, with the same name as endorser. Still another paper was a receipt for advance dues to Cregan Lodge, No. $4, I. O. of O. F., amounting to $19 70, dated Sept. 27, 185e, and signed J. C. Vees, Secretary. A memorandum book contained the name "Mrs. Franka" in a large, bold hand; also, "A Key to the Pass Womer" of an Odd Fellows' Lodge. A long letter, directed to J. Hart, and evidently written by a lady, was likewise amongst the papers. It was signed "Fanny Clauson," dated Savannah, Jan. 1, 1857. The contents showed an intimacy between the two and a regret on the part of the writer that she had not accompanied the one written to, but promised if he came back that she would go with him. I also mention at that he had promised to send her to school, but she expressed doubts as to her ability to attend regularly, but would go as often as she could. Expressions of love, &c., were frequently repeated. These papers and the skirtare now in possession of the Brookin Deputy Superintendent of Polic

SWELLING OF THE TONSILS—THIS PREVAILING D sifection, accompanied with swelling of the plands of the neck under the cars, comes on without any warning; you feel chilly, which is soon followed, if of full habit, by faver, and perhaps delirium. Be not in the least alarmed—it is an affair of a few days, if you take the following advice: So soon as yeare 'attacked, swallow from five to eight of the Brandreth Fills. If, in six or eight hours, you are not easier, take four or air, more pills. In the next twenty four hours four or six more should be taken; and, if decided amendment has taken pisce, a smaller dose the third day. This simple plan of treatment is sure to cure. A piece of Allocek's Porous Medicated Plaster may be very advantageously applied to the throat, on both sides, or Brandreth's Liniment, or any other safe, warming appl cation. Good nursing should be secured.

Brandreth's Fills are highly prized by all who suffer from billous and liver complaints. Gyspepsia, wind, spann giddiness deafners, dirzhees of the eyes, &z. For habitual contiveness their prompt use is often the means of saving valuable lives.
